

EDEN ERA Conference "Freedom AND Security – Killing the zero sum process"

Updated (EDEN Members)

Dear Mr/ Mrs ,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference 'Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum'.

This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

Being an Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN) member, you will know that over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament, and senior representatives from the NGO Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people's privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights. Particular focus will be on the right to data protection and privacy. Among the topics of the conference there will be data retention, the Police and Justice Data Protection Directive, investigations into the Darknet, new surveillance techniques, the role of Data Protection Officers in Law Enforcement etc. You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address: <https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> .

As EDEN member you benefit from a reduced registration fee. These fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the registration fee even further. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested.

We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

I am looking forward to meet you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

GENERAL (WHOLE CONFERENCE)

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference 'Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum'. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people's privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights. Particular focus will be on the right to data protection and privacy. Among the topics of the conference there will be data retention, the Police and Justice Data Protection Directive, investigations into the Darknet, new surveillance techniques, the role of Data Protection Officers in Law Enforcement etc.

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address: <https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. This offer is not available online. Please contact me directly in case you are interested.

We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

I am looking forward to meet you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

Targeted marketing → Panel 1

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference 'Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum'. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people's privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our First Panel "Data as the New Oil? Risks and opportunities for citizens and law enforcement" will be particularly relevant for you! This panel will highlight risks and opportunities of data usage in the private as well as in the public sector, setting the scene for a more law enforcement-centred part of the conference. Coming from different sectors, the excellent speakers of this panel will be: Wil Van Gemert (Deputy Executive Director of Europol at the Operations Directorate); Ralf Bendrath (former Senior Policy Adviser of MEP Jan Philipp Albrecht); Jyn Schultze-Melling (Associated Partner at Ernst & Young Law in Berlin); Prof Babak Akhgar (Director of CENTRIC at the Sheffield Hallam University); and Dr Els De Busser (Educational Director of the Cyber Security Academy at Leiden University).

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address:

<https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested. We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

I am looking forward to meet you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

Targeted marketing → Panel 2

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference ‘Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum’. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people’s privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our Second Panel “Impact of GDPR on law enforcement: the WHOIS story” will be particularly relevant for you! This panel will explore the practical implications of what may be deemed “GDPR collateral damage for LEAs” and discuss the possible way forward. Coming from different sectors, the excellent speakers of this panel will be: Mirko Manske (Team lead of Cyber Intelligence Operations at the Federal Criminal Police Office of Germany); Olivier Onidi (Deputy Director-General for security at the Directorate-General for Migration and Home Affairs); Dr Gregory Mounier (Head of the Outreach and Prevention team at the European Cybercrime Centre EC3).

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address: <https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested. We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

I am looking forward to meet you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

Targeted marketing → Panel 3

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference ‘Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum’. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people’s privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our Third Panel “Data as the hostage – ransomware is still alive!” will be particularly relevant for you! This panel will examine the current ransomware threat landscape, related law enforcement challenges, and ways to safeguard your personal data by protecting against infection. Coming from different sectors, the excellent speakers of this panel will be: Rik Ferguson (Vice President Security Research at Trend Micro); Francesca Bosco (Project Lead in Cyber-Resilience at the World Economic Forum’s Center for Cybersecurity); and Stefano Fantin (Legal and Policy Researcher at the Centre for IT & IP Law – CiTiP at the Catholic University of Leuven).

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address: <https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested. We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

I am looking forward to meet you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards

Targeted marketing → Panel 4

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference ‘Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum’. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people’s privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our Fourth Panel “The take-down of Hansa – at times the Darknet ain’t that dark!” will be particularly relevant for you! This panel will use the amazing example of Dutch law enforcement in taking down the Hansa marketplace in order to demonstrate that users cannot count on remaining anonymous online and committing a crime – even on the dark web. Coming from different sectors, the excellent speakers of this panel will be: Steven Wilson (Head of the European Cybercrime Centre - EC3); Nils Andersen Røed (Project Leader at the Dark Web Unit of the Dutch National Police); Lodewijk van Zwieten (Cybercrime Prosecutor at the Dutch Public Prosecution Service) ; and Dr. Victoria Baines (leading author and speaker in the field of cybersecurity).

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address: <https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested. We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

We are looking forward in meeting you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards

Targeted marketing → Panel 5

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference ‘Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum’. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people’s privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our Fifth Panel “The death of data retention at EU level – the mass surveillance scandal fallout and its detrimental consequences for law enforcement” will be particularly relevant for you! This panel will look into the question of how a proportionate data retention regime at EU level, building on the criteria defined by CJEU, could be put into practice. Coming from different sectors, the excellent speakers of this panel will be: Advocate General of the Court of Justice Henrik Saugmandsgaard Øe (who stated in an opinion in the Tele2 case that a general obligation to retain data imposed by a member state on providers of electronic communication services may be compatible with EU law); Ben Hayes (TNI fellow and an independent researcher and consultant on security policies, counter-terrorism, border control and data protection); Ilmari Viro (Head of Special Operation at the Telecommunication Unit of the National Bureau of Investigations of Finland); and Prof. Gert Vermeulen (Director of the Institute for International Research on Criminal Policy IRCP).

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address:

<https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested.

We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

We are looking forward in meeting you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

Targeted marketing → Panel 6

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference ‘Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum’. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people’s privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our Sixth Panel “If you can make it there, you can make it anywhere – data protection by design for cooperation between law enforcement and intelligence services?” will be particularly relevant for you! The aim of this panel is to build bridges between all stakeholders in order to enable the right choices on issues such as encryption and confidentiality of communication, purpose limitation and effectiveness of measures, bulk surveillance and deployment of the appropriate resources for independent and effective oversight of the activities of Intelligence Services and Law Enforcement Agencies. Coming from different sectors, the excellent speakers of this panel will be: Dr. Thorsten Wetzling (Head of Research Surveillance and Democratic Governance at the Stiftung Newue Verantwortung), Prof. Joe Cannataci (UN Special Rapporteur on the right to privacy); Nickolas B. Savage (Assistant Special Agent in Charge at the FBI); Dr. Christof Tschohl (Scientific Director of the Research Institute – Digital Human Rights Center in Vienna); Mario Oetheimer (Head of Sector Information Society, Privacy and Data Protection at the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights - FRA).

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address: <https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested.

We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

We are looking forward in meeting you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

Targeted marketing → Panel 7

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference ‘Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum’. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people’s privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our Seventh Panel “From law enforcement fiction to future – will there be any privacy left in 2030, anyway?” will be particularly relevant for you! The speakers of this panel are among the brightest visionaries that either try to predict the future or to prevent it from happening. They will exchange views with one of the world’s most famous and influential privacy activists who brought Facebook and other data giants to their knees: Max Schrems. Coming from different sectors, the excellent speakers of this panel will be: Ralph Echemendia (world-renowned cyber security expert famous by his alter ego “The Ethical Hacker”); Mika Lauhde (Vice-President, Cyber Security & Privacy, Global PACD in Huawei Technologies Co., LTD); Prof Francois Pellegrini (commissioner at the National Commission for Information Technology and Civil Liberties – CNIL, the French data protection authority).

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address: <https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested.

We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

We are looking forward in meeting you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

Targeted marketing → DPO Networking Event

Dear Mr/Mrs X,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the conference ‘Freedom AND Security – killing the zero sum process #kill0sum’. This event is going to be organised jointly with the Academy of European Law (ERA) and will take place at Europol Headquarters in The Hague on 22/23 November 2018.

As you may know, over recent years Europol has been praised for its observance of data protection principles and good practice by great bastions of data protection interests such as Giovanni Buttarelli, the European Data Protection Supervisor, members of the European Parliament and senior representatives from the NGO, Statewatch. Being seen as a champion of people’s privacy rights is not typical for those working in the police and intelligence world. We are therefore aware of our responsibility to live up to these high expectations.

This will be the second conference hosted in the context of the Europol Data Protection Experts Network (EDEN). This online collaboration platform has been developed with the aim to involve stakeholders from various backgrounds including law enforcement as well as representatives of relevant private parties, academia, NGOs etc. From a content perspective we intend to cover topics drawing the link between the work of law enforcement as well as other security authorities and the impact they have on fundamental rights.

I believe that our Networking Event “Kick-off meeting of EDEN Law Enforcement DPO Network – Because ‘problem solver’, ‘trust builder’ & ‘miracle worker’ are not official job titles” will be particularly relevant for you! Indeed, 25 May 2018 not only marked the date of application of the GDPR, but also of the Police and Justice DP Directive. According to the Directive, one of the requirements for law enforcement authorities is to appoint Data Protection Officers. Therefore, being organized exclusively for Law Enforcement, this event will be held on the last day of the conference and will represent the first opportunity to meet and exchange views between those who have been appointed or want to become Data Protection Officers.

You can find all the relevant information on the Europol website at this address:

<https://www.europol.europa.eu/events/freedom-and-security> . The complete updated conference programme is available at: <https://www.era.int/upload/dokumente/20807.pdf>

If interested in participating, please do not forget to fill in the registration form. The shown participation fees are meant to cover the expenses. Should you be willing to attend with a larger group of persons, please note that we would be able to reduce the participation fee to EUR 100 per person. This offer is not available online. We can also help you with accommodation subject to special Europol rates which we have agreed with selected hotels. Please contact me directly in case you are interested. We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

We recommend registering well in advance due to the scarcity of available seats.

We are looking forward in meeting you at the conference. If you would like any further information, then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time.

Kind Regards,

